Hooray for Volunteers!

It's Shelter Volunteer Appreciation Week at the Metro Animal Shelter in Puyallup! Let's hear it for the folks that help keep the shelter running throughout the week! (Note that that the National Shelter Volunteer Appreciation Week is next week, but we're celebrating our local volunteers this week!)

These awesome people (like the ones pictured) go above and beyond to help the shelter and the animals it houses. From cleaning kennels and cages, to helping run the event booth, even putting a fresh coat of paint on the walls – these guys do it all. Some of the volunteers at the Metro Animal Shelter even help by being foster parents for some of the litters of kittens that come through!

It's also important to note that a lot of the volunteers are local high school and college students – way to go guys on making a difference! These kids help out a lot during the spring and summer, especially when it comes to manning the Metro Animal Shelter booth at some of the events that they attend in the area.

Looking to become a volunteer? Check out the Metro Animal Shelter's website RIGHT NOW to find out how!

Can't commit the time to help? Don't worry! You can still make a difference! DONATE TODAY to start making a difference in the lives of shelter animals!
